

RADxSM Radical

RADx-rad Discoveries and Data Coordinating Center (DCC) Training Series “Team Science Training”

Thursday, June 2 & June 9
9:30 AM – 11:00 AM Pacific Time
Zoom link provided upon registration

Dr. Danny Kim
Industrial/Organizational Psychologist
Sr. Director of People & Culture, Raindrop Agency
Faculty Member, Center for Creative Leadership
Consultant, Coach, GallupStrengths-certified <http://www.dannykimm.com/>

Dr. Danny Kim is an Industrial/Organizational Psychologist who specializes in elevating team performance through strengths-based psychology and building people-first cultures. He has supported leaders at various levels of organizations and has extensive experience building high-performance teams. His passion is partnering with leaders to build cohesive and effective teams.

Team Science Training:

- Consists of two-90 minute sessions
- Offered to all RADx-rad consortium members and staff
- You can sign up:
 - with your teams of three or more, or
 - individually, and be grouped within the RADx-rad community

Series includes:

- A deeper understanding of a strengths-based approach to building people-first cultures
- Gaining clarity on leveraging strengths to maximize performance
- Facilitated sessions with honest dialogue to support leadership
- Practical tools to implement with your team to understand strengths and mitigate weaknesses
- Building meaningful community and building courage for action
- A CliftonStrengths assessment to identify strengths

Registration deadline: May 18, 2022 by 5 PM Pacific

Questions? Email: radx-rad-admin@eng.ucsd.edu

Register HERE or by scanning the QR code below

